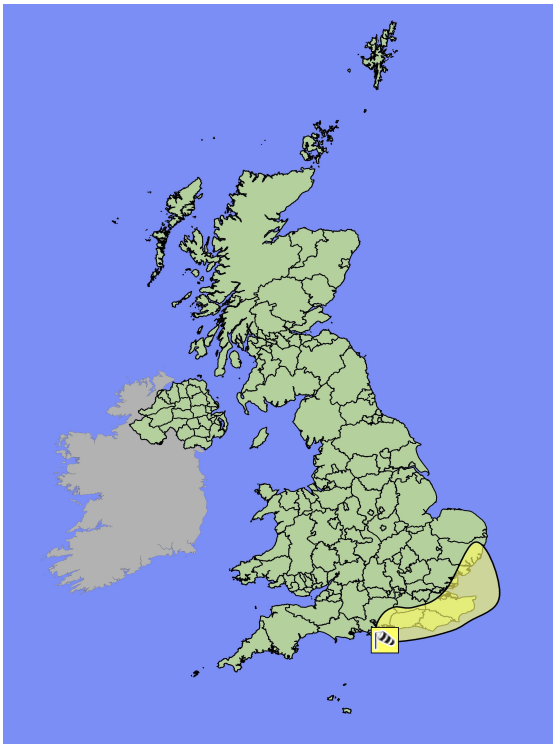
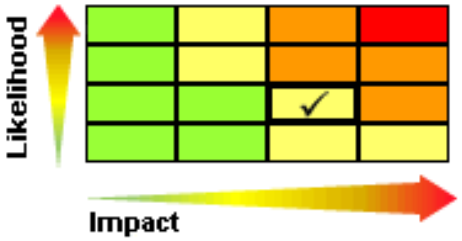
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A deep depression to move northeast across England with strong winds developing along the southern and eastern flank. There is some uncertainty with the track and depth of the depression and hence the location and strength of the strongest winds. Despite this, inland gusts of around 60 MPH at times. Along exposed parts of the south coast gusts of 70 MPH are possible.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Alert of Wind

Valid from 00:00 on Sun, 25th Nov 2012 until 12:00 on Sun, 25th Nov 2012

Gale to severe gale force westerly or southwesterly winds are expected to affect southeastern parts of England during Sunday morning. The public should be aware of difficult driving conditions and damage to trees.
